Navy Orders Trial for Captain Of Sunken Cruiser Indianapolis

Charles B. McVay III Was in Command When Ship Went Down in Philippine Sea
With Casualties of 1,196

Special to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—Captain Charles B. McVay, III, commander of the heavy cruiser Indianapolis, which was lost in the Philippine Sea July 30, will face a general court-martial here Monday, under an order issued by the Navy Department today. The 10,000-ton vessel, flagship of the Fifth Fleet, suffered a casualty list of 1,196, one of the heaviest in the naval history of the war. Every man on board was a casualty, the Navy has stated.

The court-martial will convene at the Washington Navy Yard and the proceedings will be open. The Navy declined to disclose any details or the nature of the inquiry. It has been alleged in naval circles that the warship was traveling without escort.

The announcement said the Indianapolis was lost to "enemy action," as was revealed at the time of the Japanese surrender. At that time it was said she had been hit, probably by one or two enemy torpedoes. She sank in fifteen minutes near Peleliu in the Palaus.

About 300 survivors were picked up after being in the sea 100 or more hours. Captain McVay was rescued from a life raft after three and one-half days.

Reporting an announcement made in August, the department said that the Indianapolis had sailed from San Francisco July 16 "on a special high speed run" to Guam carrying "atomic bomb material." She had delivered her cargo and was lost after departing from Guam for the Philippines.

Captain McVay, 47, and son of Admiral Charles B. McVay Jr., retired, who was commander of the Asiatic fleet in 1929, will be tried by a court composed of the following:

Rear Admiral Wilder D. Baker, Commodores Paul S. Theiss and William S. Popham and Capts. Homer J. Grosskopf Heman, J. Redfield, John R. Sullivan and

Capt. Charles B. McVay 3d
The New York Times (U. S. Navy)

Charles B. Hunt. Capt. Thomas J. Ryan Jr. will serve as judge advocate.

General court-martial for naval officers follow the direction or recommendation of a court of inquiry. Last August, when the Navy announced the loss of the Indianapolis, it was said that such a court had been appointed. However, as customary, its findings were not later announced.

The news that the Indianapolis had been sunk came just a few hours before President Truman disclosed the surrender of Japan. At that time it was said that a "tremendous double explosion" led to the ship's death.

Simultaneously, it became known that the Indianapolis had been damaged March 31, when a Kamikaze pilot dived from the clouds just after dawn. The ship, however, was able to make port and was repaired at Mare Island.

33; Eberhard Faber George B Drowns Trying Dies; M To Rescue Son Home

Col. Putnam, Brother-in-Law Quit His of Manufacturer, Also Dies Instit in Attempt; Boy Is Saved Raise

Special to the Herald Tribune

POINT PLEASANT, N. J., Aug. 26.—Eberhard L. Faber, fifty-one, vice-president of the Eberhard Faber Pencil Company, 37 Greenpoint Avenue, Brooklyn, and his brother-in-law, Colonel Brock Putnam, fifty-eight, retired Army officer, of Ridgefield, Conn., drowned yesterday afternoon when they attempted to save Mr. Faber's eight-year-old son, Eberhard L.

George Faber, manager of the In-520 G Friday ganiza which He l Brool Mr. interi Brook

Faber 4th, from being swept out to sea.

The boy was carried from the water by another brother-in-law of Mr. Faber's, Captain Duncan Taylor, United States Marine Corps, of Plainfield, N. J., and suffered no harm.

Late in the afternoon the boy was wading in the surf in front of the Faber cottage, which is on the beach near South Mantoloking, five miles south of here. He was caught in an undertow and cried out for help as he was carried out to sea.

Swept Away by Undertow

His father and Colonel Putnam, plunging into the water to aid him, were themselves carried helplessly away by the violent undercurrent. Captain Taylor, who recently returned from duty in the Pacific and who was one of a party of guests at the Faber summer residence, quickly followed the others into the surf and carried out the boy and Colonel Putnam. Walter Krichling, of the Trenton, N. J., life guard at Sea Bay Park, south of the Faber home, brought in Mr. Faber.

Coast Guardsmen worked on the beach for two hours trying to resuscitate Mr. Faber and Colonel Putnam, but were unsuccessful.

Mr. Faber, who had a home at 1170 Fifth Avenue, New York, was the grandson of Eberhard Faber, who in 1849 founded the pencil company, the oldest business of its kind in America. He was the son of Lothar W. Faber, who was president of the company when he died in 1943.

His uncle, J. Eberhardt Faber, of New York, is chairman of the pencil company's board of directors.

Mr. Faber, born at Port Richmond, S. I., was graduated from Princeton University in 1915. His entire business career was in the Faber company.

Colonel Putnam, a native of New York, joined the New York National Guard in 1916 and served in France during the World War. He remained in the service, transferring to the regular Army a short time after the war, and retired only a few weeks ago.

Enthusiastic Sportsman

The colonel was an enthusiastic sportsman. In June, 1928, when he was a captain in the cavalry corps, he set out to establish a "marathon golf" record at the Plainfield, N. J., Country Club. He played 252 holes in fourteen hours. This was believed to have been eighteen holes more than the previous record for one day's play.

Besides his son, Mr. Faber is survived by his wife, Mrs. Julia Taylor Faber; a daughter, Miss Theo Alice Faber, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret L. Putnam, the wife of Colonel Putnam.

Surviving Colonel Putnam, in addition to his wife, are a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Downing, the wife of Lieutenant Colonel W. A. Downing, of the staff of the United States Military Academy, West Point, N. Y.; two sons, Peter Brock Putnam, of Princeton, N. J., and Lieutenant Lothar Faber Putnam, wounded while serving with the Third Army in Europe and now in the Camp Edwards, Mass., Army Hospital, and a sister Miss Elizabeth Putnam, of Rowayton, Conn.

Private funeral services for Mr. Faber and Colonel Putnam will be held at the Faber home here at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Mr. Faber will be buried Tuesday at the Moravian Cemetery, New Dorp, S. I., and Colonel Putnam will be cremated Tuesday at the Rose Hill Chapel, Linden, N. J.

SOCIETY Today

By CHARLES VENTURA.

Antoinette D. Turcas Throckmorton journeyed down south of the Rio Grande the other day to join those Mayfairites who are enjoying Laddie Sanford's international polo series with Mexico's finest. Before leaving, however, she admitted, "I have more on my mind than polo and pleasure."

The attractive wife of John W. Throckmorton is in Mexico to file suit for divorce against her husband of more than 15 years. After a series of separations, they have agreed to a friendly divorce. They chose Mexico, hoping to avoid publicity by petitioning the courts there in a setting far removed from Manhattan.

John said yesterday he would have preferred to keep the divorce quiet, but, since the news had leaked out, he might as well admit that Antoinette was in Mexico for the purpose of dissolving their marriage.

"My wife and I are still friends," was his comment, "we simply found we were incompatible."

The Throckmortons, whose separation was mentioned here last December, are both members of conservative old New York families.

John is the son of the late Col. C. Wickliffe Throckmorton, whose family dates back to William the Conqueror. Antoinette is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jules Turcas. Through her mother she is a granddaughter of the late shipping magnate, John Dallett. Mrs. W. Thorn Kissel, the former Frances A. Dallett, is a first cousin.

Antoinette and John divided their time between New York and New Canaan, Conn., during their married life. News of the divorce will probably come as a surprise to friends in both social colonies, since their plans have been known only to the immediate families, until recently.
